Allotment Of Land On Reservation To The Red Man Is A Source Of Trouble.

ARE NO LONGER WARDS OF NATION

Government Still Retains Supervisory Control Of Their Funds, But Considers Them As Citizens.

[Special to The Gazette.]

Black River Falls, Wis., Feb. 12.—An unusual complication has resulted from the allotment of reservation land to Indians in this part of Wisconsin. Incidentally the new condition of affairs is costing the county considerably more than under the old system, when the tribal relation was recognized.

The changed relation of the whites and the Indians was brought to light officially when the pauper Indians, of whom there are many, were treated by the county physicians for their various ills. In the years past the Indians had been given treatment by the county physician and the bill for services presented to the interior department by the county. When the bills were presented under the new system the county was informed that the government no longer holds itself responsible for any bills the Indians may contract in this manner, though still exercising a general supervisory authority over the use to which their money is put. The Indians who have been going to the county authorities for assistance are in theory landholders, but in reality paupers, as the hand they hold has not been improved by them and made productive.

Regard Indians as Citizens.

During a smallpox epidemic the county took entire charge of the Indian settlements, but the government, ruling on the bill presented for this service, was that the Indians are now regarded as citizens.

LINCOLN DAY IS OBSERVED
THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

Birthday Of Nation's Savior Honored In Every City And Town Of The United States.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 12.—Banks, the board of trade, the stock exchange, the courts and other public institutions were closed here today in honor of Lincoln's birthday. The chief event of the day's exercises was the public memorial meeting in the G. A. R. Memorial hall, under the auspices of the G. A. R. Memorial Hall association. Various Grand Army posts, as well as other organizations, held commemorative meetings in various parts of the city during the day and evening.

At Lincoln's Old Home.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—The 57th anniversary of Lincoln's birthday was appropriately observed in his home city today. Wreaths and other memorial offerings were placed about the Lincoln tomb by the various patriotic societies. All the offices in the state house were closed at noon and memorial exercises were held in the public schools. At the Leland hotel tonight the Sangamon club holds its customary Lincoln day banquet. The chief speaker is to be Senator Fred DuBois of Idaho.

In the Metropolis.

New York, Feb. 12.—Lincoln's birthday was generally observed in the metropolis today. Banks and exchanges were closed and business was generally suspended. Many private celebrations took place. The Women's Republican club of New York gives a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight. At the latter function the scheduled speakers include General Horace Porter, Senator Spooner of Wisconsin, Representative Fred Landis of Indiana and other republican party leaders of note.

In the Quaker City.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 12.—Appropriate ceremonies in honor of Abraham Lincoln marked the ninety-seventh anniversary of his birth in Philadelphia today. School children, college students, civil, social and political organizations paid tribute to the memory of the American commoner. All the big business houses and many private residences throughout the city were appropriately decorated. In the public schools a formal program was observed, consisting of exercises calculated to acquaint the children with the life and character of the civil war president.

Missouri Republicans.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 12.—In accordance with its annual custom the Young Men's Republican Club of Missouri will observe Lincoln Day by giving a banquet tonight at the Midland hotel. It will be the sixth annual function of the organization and will be attended by republican leaders from

MISS ROOSEVELT IS TWENTY-TWO TODAY

The Most Prominent Young Lady on the Globe Celebrates Birthday in Wedding Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Seldom does it fall to the lot of a young woman to celebrate her birthday and her wedding day in the same week. And never before in the history of the land has any young woman been so fortunate as to have both celebrations take place in the White House. But such is the case with Miss Alice Roosevelt, who was twenty-two years old today and whose wedding to Congressman Longworth takes place next Saturday. Though all the President's household is busy with preparations for Saturday's happy event, the birthday of Miss Alice was not allowed to pass unnoticed. There were birthday presents from the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and other members of the family and to these were added many little remembrances from the friends of the bride-elect. In further celebration of Miss Alice's birthday anniversary a large dinner is to be given in the state dining room at the White House tonight. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt will act as hosts and the guests will include a number of those who are to act as attendants at the coming wedding.

Views Of The Situation.

SOFT COAL MEN ALWAYS BEATEN

Declares Anthracite Troubles Were Settled By Hanna
And Roosevelt, But The Operators Won
Soft Coal Strike.

[Special to The Gazette.]

Pittsburg, Feb. 12.—"The miners of this country have never won a prominent soft coal strike under the direction of President Mitchell. Mark Hanna settled the first anthracite strike for us, and President Roosevelt settled the second. Nobody has settled our big soft coal strikes because we have lost them."

This warning to union miners was issued Sunday night by Patrick Dolan, president of the local district of the United Mine Workers of America, in a statement in which he gives his side of the controversy within the organization. Dolan's resignation was demanded last week at the convention of delegates from the local unions in the district because he voted with the operators to maintain the present wage scale at the Indianapolis conference.

Opposes Ryan Resolution.

Dolan relates that in the sessions of the joint scale committee at Indianapolis the Illinois miners and operators deadlocked over the shot fires' bill. Secretary-Treasurer W. D. Ryan of Illinois then presented a resolution in the miners' convention, declaring that no district in the United States should be permitted to make a scale settlement unless all were settled.

"This resolution," he continued, "puts the miners of the country in a ridiculous position. One little district in Michigan or British Columbia can bring strife and woe to more than 600,000 miners just because it may have some local grievance to settle. John Mitchell is going down to New York to ask the anthracite operators for a contract which he has not the power to enter into because the national convention has him tied hand and foot."

At the present time we have a strike of 8,000 miners in Alabama, which has been on for nineteen months. They are striking against a 10 per cent reduction. Under the Ryan resolution, which says all districts must get 12 1/2 per cent advance over the present scale, the Alabama operators will have to withdraw their demand for a 10 per cent reduction and give the 12 1/2 per cent advance, or a total difference of 22 1/2 per cent, before any other district in the country can settle. How is this to be brought about?"

"President Francis L. Robbins of the Pittsburg Coal company does not believe there will be a strike," he thinks another conference will be held between now and April 1. His company will not enter into any conference on the scale question except with the men of this competitive district."

The reluctant advertiser, who has to be "persuaded" before he will risk even a half-adequate campaign, is described by a great writer in this way: "We do what we must, and call it by the best names we can, and would fain have the praise of having intended the result which ensues."

Beloit is having a merry scrap over their coming municipal election.

Those who know Mr. Rockefeller best insist that it is impossible to lose him.

Just to think of Grover Cleveland's censuring the doctors for using big words!

There are more candidates in the field for city offices than can be filled. Some are bound to be left. The question is who?

Rock county can assert its independence from factional politics by forgetting the past differences in political parties and selected good true honest men as standard bearers for state and county offices. It is a long way off yet but worth considering.

THE HOME CONDITIONS

Within a few weeks there is to be held in Janesville an election for aldermen and supervisors in the different wards. The offices of city treasurer and city attorney are also to be voted upon. While on the face of the matter it is merely the usual election of municipal officers, the voters, the taxpayers, the business men, the professional men of Janesville should be vitally interested. Municipal elections occur each year and except for personal reasons few contests ever play an important part in the city politics. While the Gazette does not want to appear in this matter as the criterion or censor of individuals who may aspire to public office, it issues a word of warning to the citizens of Janesville not to be carried by personal representations. However well personally you may like a candidate stop to consider his worth as a public official. The mere matter of being an alderman does not amount to much to the individual, beyond five dollars a meeting, but the good or bad he may do the city is great. The common council is our local-law-formulating body. It can give away the streets of the city to a corporation, it can vacate alleys, it can move sidewalks, it can order more expenses and a hundred other matters while the tax payer has but the one redress—the court. Five aldermen and five supervisors are to be selected. The selection of the supervisor is as important in its way as that of alderman. Janesville has a minority on the county board with the countrymen all ready and eager to scent anything Janesville desires as "graft." In selecting these county officials care should be taken. County men who will watch after the interest of the city and fight vigorously for its interests. The same is true of city attorney and city treasurer. Select those best fitted for the office and when selected elect them. Until the primaries are held and the tickets selected the Gazette does not intend to take an active part in the campaign. When the final choice is made it will take its stand. However at this time a word of warning is issued to the over-enthusiastic who may support or promise to support any one candidate whose sole idea is personal revenge or self-aggrandizement. Support good true men who will ally represent your ward in the council or the county board and be content to do your duty as a tax payer and a citizen.

DANGEROUS CONDITIONS

On Saturday evening the Gazette published the report of the recent inspection of Janesville by fire inspectors for various fire insurance companies. Inspections of like nature have been made frequently and reports made by the inspectors. They have been relative to various subjects vital to the business interests of Janesville. It would appear that Janesville was a dangerous town from the fire insurance risk standpoint. Frequent reports have been made by the fire chief relative to this subject without any results accruing. State factory inspectors have condemned this or that condition and demanded in vain that certain requirements of the law be lived up to. Promises have been made which have been forgotten as soon as made and the same tenure of the way continued. The state labor laws make certain requirements of public buildings which must be lived up to regarding fire protection. The law expressly states that if they are not complied with the district attorney shall take steps to see that they are enforced. Rock county now has a new district attorney free from any affiliations relative to pre-election promises. If he desires to make a name for himself let him step forth and do his duty as a man and a county officer. Let him simply conform to his oath of office to see the laws of the state enforced.

PRESS COMMENT.

To Blush Unseen.
Chicago Record-Herald: Senator La Follette's anti-pass bill is destined to bluish unseen. The Senate knows how to make such bills modest.

Primary Equals Self-Nomination.
Milwaukee Sentinel: It is growingly evident that this primary election business is likely to be more productive of self-nomination than popular nomination.

Which is a Common Failing.
Exchange: So the new president of France neither drinks nor smokes. Looks discouraging. But perhaps he doesn't mistake his personal preferences for general principles.

Place for Chicago Youths.
Sheboygan Journal: Segregation is to be tried in the Chicago public schools. If all that the newspapers say about the tough youths of that city is true, most of them ought to be segregated on the isthmus of Panama.

Power of the Press.
La Crosse Tribune: It now develops that Rev. George Simmons, the disgraced pastor of the Peoria (Ill.) Baptist church, suicided on the advice of the editor of the Peoria Star. Well, the press of Illinois was always considered a wonderful power.

His Opening a Repeater.
Green Bay Gazette: Irvine Lenroot is going to open his campaign for governor on the 12th with a speech at Racine. It had generally been supposed that his campaign has been open for some time, but he evidently is not satisfied with the opening and proposes to do it over again.

In a Sin-Smitten Region.
Marion Advertiser: Fellows, you want to keep your eyes peeled. You know there are plenty of men in this sin-smitten country who will swindle neighbors and friends out of hundreds of dollars, and then undertake to square things in the minds of the public by contributing $125 of it to charity.

Hatten Out of It?
Stevens Point Journal: Senator A. W. Sanborn, of Ashland is quoted by a Milwaukee newspaper as saying that Senator Hatten has fully determined not to become a candidate for governor—a conclusion which, if true, will be regretted by many of the senator's friends, who hoped to have the pleasure of supporting him for that office.

Great Town For Geese.
Wausau Record: Wausau claims to be the greatest goose market in Wisconsin. Not only in the number handled, but in prices obtained they hold pre-eminence. By the rules established the prices reached are just as much per pound as the number of pounds the geese weigh. The result has been to materially increase the weight, as each additional pound means another cent in the price.

Promoters of Envy.
Oshkosh Northwestern: There should be a law prohibiting the railroads and steamship companies from using the newspapers and magazines to picture scenes of verdure, warmth and loveliness in California and the tropics, as a temptation to people to get away from the snows and ice of a northern climate. It is extremely aggravating to those who have neither the time nor the price.

Ladylike College Rewarded.
Free Press: Columbia college did a good stroke of business when it gave football a black eye. It secured contributions amounting to a quarter million dollars, one from a lady of means and gentle instincts, for the establishment of a professorship, or an endowed lectureship, on the origin and development of civilization among men. This was for $150,000. The other for $100,000 was also given for the reason that the college will have no more football. Thus are the good rewarded.

Kindergarten Talk.
Madison Democrat: Wisconsin and Chicago universities are in a fair way to be overwhelmed with students the next two years. Just wait until the hard-headed fathers up-country realize that football has actually been put in abeyance for that period and ambitious sons, no matter where they may now be attending college, will receive peremptory notice, defining the exact place where they are to continue studies hereafter. Wisconsin will head the list too, for here is an environment wherein anti-crime societies are in no need of multiplying to insure safety to lone women, where the death rate is less than one-half that of Chicago, where the water is crystal like, and the sun never obscured by a pall of smoke.

La Follette's First Bill.
La Crosse Leader-Press: Senator Robert M. La Follette has been heard from in the senate for the first time. He has introduced a bill cutting off the pass privilege from federal officers, somewhat the same law as is now in effect in Wisconsin for state officers. The offering of such a bill must have been a tremendous shock to that citadel of special privileges, the senate. Discussing the measure, Senator La Follette said that its purpose was obvious from its face and that he hoped to secure its passage. Before it is passed, however, he will probably experience a great deal of trouble and will have the first chance to prove his metal as a senator. Up to this time the other senators have not been crowding up to declare themselves in his favor.

Mushroom Farm in Baraboo.
Evening Wisconsin: An experienced gardener has started in the basement of a grocery store at Baraboo a mushroom farm from which he expects to begin gathering his crop in about a week and to keep on harvesting until April. The space under cultivation contains 2000 square feet, and will yield about a pound of mushrooms to the square foot. The mushrooms are expected to sell in the Milwaukee market for an average of 45 cents a pound. The Baraboo News, referring to the enterprise, says: "There is breaking forth from rich soil prepared by months of careful effort, a vegetable of which over ten million pounds pass through the Paris markets every year. It is the delicious agaricus campestris, commonly known as mushroom. This industry brings us mushrooms at a season when it is impossible to obtain mushrooms from the field. The price will be reasonable, in fact it is in many cases cheaper to buy the grown product than to spend time searching in the fields."

The Peoria Product.
Milwaukee Free Press: There is something in the atmosphere of Peoria, or in the quality of the principal product of the town that is having a bad influence on the most trusted men of the community. Perhaps it is that the Peoria people do not pick out a specially trustworthy kind of men in whom to repose their deepest confidence.

Within five months they have had the Dougherty school and bank scandal, out of which the leading citizen of the town went to do time in state prison. His offense was stealing $1,000,000 from the public school funds. The postmaster, trusted and respected as only postmasters and family doctors are, went wrong, and has been removed to the removal to take place the last of the present month.

Charges were preferred against the collector of internal revenue, but they fell through, and the collector was returned to the office he came so near losing.

It is said that the long series of sensations through which the town has lived for the past few months has had a most disturbing effect on business, politics, religion, and the social life. It would seem that there could be no milder consequence of it.

The last blow is the fall of the "preacher-banker," pastor of the Peoria First Baptist church, and the suicide of the unfortunate man after an exposure.

Traitors to Own Bailiwick.
Madison Journal: Is northern Wisconsin playing out? In Marinette is a big colonization company that owns great tracts of land in the Isle of Pines. When prospective settlers from this section get up there in Isaac Stephenson's bailiwick and look around in the tamarack for a suitable location for a farm, out jump these Isle of Pines fellows and send them back into southern Wisconsin, but down into the sun irradiated spaces of the sultry Caribbean sea. In a recent issue of the Milwaukee Sentinel a correspondent dilates upon the wrongs of the American settlers there, saying the Spaniards did not discover the possibilities of the island, and that the Cubans did not think it had any value until Americans stepped in and showed them that it had.

For that matter, it has been only recently that we have realized that our northern counties were soon for anything except blueberries, Indians, and wolves. Queer that a colonization firm locating people in a distant island in the torrid zone should have its headquarters in the very part of our state most in need of settlers, in a town which has shown a decrease in population during the last five years, and whose future depends largely upon building up a prosperous farming region in its tributary district.

A Terrible Outlook for Stouts.
Chicago Letter Ocean: Next summer's styles for men, according to the Haberdasher for February, will be largely in stripes and squares. Deep colored straight lines will run through the negligee shirts, and dark colored lines will form squares of various sizes on the coats, waistcoats, and trousers. Squares, as everybody knows, are all very well for tall men, but they make short men look shorter. However, this is not the worst of it. The average American is of medium height, but of recent years he has been growing stouter so that he looks shorter than he really is. The 44-stout measurement is now very common in tailor shops.

In this respect a remarkable change has come over the American male. It has been coming on so gradually, however, since the civil war period, that we have scarcely noticed it. In former years the average American was pictured as a thin, lanky individual, and the conventional Uncle Sam was generally accepted as a fair representative of the prevailing type.

Possibly the prosperous times that have come to us, with few internecine wars, since the close of the rebellion, are in a large degree responsible for the present tendency, and yet there has never been a period in our history in which men have worked harder. Whatever the cause, the fact that most of us are heavyweights in these days should be taken into account by those who create our styles.

That these arbitrary persons ignore the fact, however, is evident from the editorials which have just come forth, namely, that men next summer must wear clothing which will show their figures from hips to shoulders. It is a terrible thing even to contemplate. For years the average American has congratulated himself every morning that he would be able to put on something that would to a large extent conceal his figure. Some of the brightest minds in the country—and minds, too, that are not given much to worrying over the mode—have been striving to create a public sentiment in favor of the Roman toga, to the end of facing their forms from the observation of mankind; and now, instead of endeavoring to meet these thinkers' half way, the fashion makers have set to work as if with deliberate purpose to make the long and stout man miserable and the short and stout man wish at times that he had never been born.

THE LOCKHART WEALTH

How $180,000,000 Was Made
From Three Barrels of Oil.

TRAITS OF PITTSBURG MAGNATE.

Man of Simple but Cultured Tastes
Who Craved Privacy and Had a Remarkable Talent For Making Money—Derivote of Art—How His Contributions to Charity Were Made.

The board of tax assessors of Allegheny county in Pennsylvania, purposes to clear the mystery that has hitherto enveloped the estate of the late Charles Lockhart of Pittsburgh, which is now said to amount to $180,000,000 and to have grown to that size from three barrels of crude petroleum bought in 1852, says a "Pittsburg special dispatch to the New York Herald." Lockhart died on Jan. 26, 1905, leaving a will in which he divided the bulk of his estate between two sons, J. H. Lockhart and John M. Lockhart, and two daughters, Mrs. John R. McCune and Mrs. Henry Lee Mason. To his other child, Mrs. William S. Flower, who married a young dentist against the wishes of her family, he left only the income of $300,000. The will was drawn in such shape that it was not necessary to divulge the value of the estate, which was announced to be between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000. He had been popularly rated at between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

It is said that Mrs. Flower will reopen her contest of the will. She had settled her case for $475,000 and a life interest in $1,300,000 on the basis of the estate being worth $40,000,000. It now develops that the estate is worth nearer $200,000,000 than $40,000,000, and her attorneys are preparing to reopen the case and demand a more liberal settlement.

Secrecy has been the keynote of the Lockhart family. Charles Lockhart was never communicative to the public, and those who knew him respected his craving for privacy. It was due to this inherited desire for secrecy that Mrs. Flower was able to make better terms with her brothers and sisters than were provided by her father's will.

Even the reasons on which her suit would be based were not made public, but it was alleged that her father had left at least $200,000,000. Her share in view of this was ridiculously small. The suit would have resulted in making public the value of the estate, and to avoid this the other four heirs sacrificed $250,000 each. This, with the $300,000 trust fund and $400,000 cash left to each of the children, presumably to tide them over until the estate could be settled, gave Mrs. Flower $1,700,000. With this she was content to abandon the contest. Now the board of assessors has declined to accept the heirs' estimate of less than $10,000,000 and have returned the statement to them to be sworn to. The assessors believe the estate is worth $180,000,000.

Mr. Lockhart was a man of simple but cultured tastes. While he had a remarkable talent for making money, he was a devotee of art. It is said he was one of the few Pittsburgh men of wealth who had not at some time or another been imposed upon with a crude copy.

He was charitable, but was afraid of appearing ostentatious. It is told of him that when a committee of women would wait upon him to secure a contribution to charity Mr. Lockhart would perhaps put his name down for $50. Then the committee would seek Mrs. Lockhart to secure her mite. Glancing over the list, Mrs. Lockhart would come to the item, "Charles Lockhart, $50." "There is some mistake here," Mrs. Lockhart would say. "Mr. Lockhart meant $500, not $50. I will correct it." Then she would subscribe her "mite," probably $250. When the list was returned to Mr. Lockhart for the two subscriptions he would make no protest, but with a smile draw his check for $750.

Mr. Lockhart's great fortune grew from the purchase of three barrels of crude petroleum. He was born on a farm in Scotland in 1818. His parents were for the time and place well to do. When seven years old he went to live with his uncle, a merchant at Gartstown, a Scotch seaport. In 1830 the Lockharts emigrated to the United States. Charles Lockhart came to Pittsburgh, securing employment with the wholesale grocery firm of James McCully & Co. In 1855 he became a member of the firm.

It was while still a clerk, in 1852, that Lockhart made his venture in oil. This was the purchase of three barrels from Isaac Huff, who was part owner in a salt well in Westmoreland county, from which the McCully company obtained the salt it sold. Disposing of this oil at considerable profit, Lockhart purchased a controlling interest in the salt well. From that time, April, 1853, until his death he was an oil producer.

After the discovery of oil at Oil creek in 1859 by Colonel Drake, Lockhart sent a representative to investigate the field. Phillips, Frew & Co. was organized, Lockhart being a member. In March, 1860, oil was struck, and sixty-four barrels were shipped by water to Pittsburgh. In May, 1860, Mr. Lockhart went to Europe with samples of crude and refined petroleum and opened up the European market for American oil.

In the same year Lockhart, with others, built the first refinery in Pittsburgh and later, with William G. Warden, established a commission house in Philadelphia and built the Atlantic refinery there. Upon the organization of the Standard Oil company in 1874 all Mr. Lockhart's oil interests were merged into it and he became an active factor in that corporation.

The trial of Green and Gaynor today at Savannah, Ga., will enter upon its sixth week and will continue at least six weeks longer. Greater progress has been made during the last two weeks than seemed likely during the earlier stages of the trial.

HAVE YOU THE WRINKLE HABIT?

It comes with age.

No one admires it.

But worry helps it along.

So does excitement or anger.

The best preventive is to keep cool.

The wrinkle habit that comes with age—right foods.

It won't hurt to steam the face once a week with hot cloths.

Nor to massage once in a while with a good skin food, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

But when they do come, don't acquire any more than necessary by fretting about it.

It's a good thing, too, to compose your face in to a pleasant expression before you go to sleep.

And, of course, fresh air and cleanliness and a brisk nightly massage will keep the furrows away.

The wrinkle habit that comes with age ought to be accepted philosophically. Forget it.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A girl has an awfully deceptive way of making a man believe he is doing the proposing.

A woman is mighty clever to make a man think the reason she loves him is that he loves her.

The more a man loves a woman the more he has to tell her so, or she won't believe him.

Telephone Talk.

Ting-aling, ting-aling, ting-aling.
Hello. Hello. Hello yourself.
Yes, this is Dr. Richards. What is it?
You want to know if I am the dentist who does "PAINLESS work"?—Yes!
Could I REALLY do your work without hurting you?
Well, my only means of knowing is when people tell me that I don't hurt them, a bit.
I have to believe them.
Your last dental work used you up, you say?
Yes, I presume it wasn't the most pleasant thing in the world to you.
You will come in to see me?
All right, I shall be glad to look over your teeth and give you a clear idea of what you need and the cost of the work.
Yes, I guarantee all my work.
I am trying in my practice of dentistry to treat people so that I shall not be ashamed to meet them face to face both in this world and the next.
All right, good-bye. Ting-aling.

Institute Will Be Held February 21—
Subjects of Agricultural Interest.

At Milton Junction, February 21, will be held a Rock County Farmers' Institute. The first session will be held at ten in the morning and a large attendance is expected. Among the subjects that eminent authorities on agriculture will discuss are dairying, horse and cattle breeding, sheep and swine husbandry and poultry raising. Besides the addresses much else of interest to the farmer will transpire at this meeting. On the following day, Thursday, 22d, an attractive program will be given by the Rock County Pomona Grange.

BELOIT OFFENDERS PROMISE TO COMPLY WITH STATUTES

Wilson Opera House and Thompson Manufacturing to Have New Fire Escapes.

On a complaint, urging strict compliance with the Wisconsin statute, made by a State Factory Inspector, District Attorney John L. Fisher recently visited Beloit and held conferences with the management of the Wilson Opera House and the John Thompson Manufacturing plant. The existence of two old warrants was recalled and both offenders have promised to erect fire escapes. Work at the Thompson Manufacturing will begin at once. There will be no prosecution.

Henry E. Dixon and company in Grace Furniss' dramatization of McGrath's novel "The Man On The Box" at the Myers theatre Friday evening, Feb. 16.

LOCAL LAOONICS

Drunks in Court: In municipal court today Louis Pashel was fined $5 and costs and Charles Mackey and William Weldon were each given eight days in jail for drunkenness.

Marriage Licenses: Applications for marriage licenses have been filed by Henry A. Baars of Turtle and Ina Krupier of Manchester, Ill.; Herman Passchel and Bertha Daigues, both of Janesville; William S. Falk of Beloit and Alma Bugge of Janesville.

Cash for Treasure Smith: There was paid today to Oliver Smith, as county treasurer the total of $20,127.44. A large portion of the money was for state taxes and came from the city of Janesville and some of the towns in the county.

Losing Too Much Coal: The Northwestern railroad officials have complained to the police department that from one to two tons of coal a day are being carried away from their sheds by women and children as well as men. "Some of the children are known to belong to well-to-do parents. The practice is to be stopped and anyone caught in the act will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Special Train: "The Pink Hussars" theatrical company, who arrive here from Rockford at 11:45 on the Northwestern tomorrow, will depart on a special train at ten o'clock Wednesday morning, being bound for Sheboygan.

Meet Tomorrow, Not Thursday: The February meeting of the Twilight club will be held on Tuesday evening instead of Thursday, as was printed by error in the program. An interesting program is arranged.

Best Pronosition Out

There were 12,000 people who joined the excursion to the Gulf coast of Texas last Tuesday out of Chicago. They went to investigate the greatest land offer that has yet been made. Next excursion, Tuesday, Feb. 20th. Talk to Lowell.

NOTICE

The weekly private skating party will be given on Tuesday night, Tuesday the 14th, instead of Thursday. All who have attended previous parties and their friends are invited.

Male Writers More Tidy

It is a curious fact, says the London Book Monthly, that manuscripts by women are rarely as clean and tidy as those prepared by men. "Most editors will admit in candid if unglamorous moments—that they would rather tackle two manuscripts by men than one in a hand that should be fairer."

Kites Keep Birds from Flying

Kites have been put to many ingenious uses in connection with sports. To keep partridges from rising and flying from covers where it is wished to keep them for shooting it has been found that the birds will not rise with kites hovering over their heads.

Haverly Minstrels AT MYERS THEATRE

Gave Finished and Meritorious Performances Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

Haverly's Minstrels deserved better houses than the ones which greeted them Saturday afternoon and evening. They may not be up to the standard maintained prior to the death of John Haverly but they gave the cleanest and most meritorious minstrel performance that has been witnessed in Janesville in three years' time. The opening overture, consisting of a medley from current operas, Walter Wolf's magnificent bass solo "The King of the Winds," Martin's "Good Bye Sweetheart" and "Street Genevieve" and the topical songs "When the Rent Comes Round" by Somers, "Tommy" by Billy Pearl, and "Who's There" by Billy Pearl, were all excellent contributions. In the olio the beautiful "Poet and Peasant" overture played by Garden & Somers on the sphyonones; the laughable and wonderful acrobatic feats by Marion and Pearl, the Si-ane River festival; and Billy Beard's monologue were thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated. Scare-crow make-ups have been relegated to the dust heap by the modern minstrel show and the end-men and circle are all garbed in regulation black. When a hit is made it may now be definitely known that it's the man and not the clothes he wears.

SENATORS ASKED TO PROTECT WISCONSIN

Local Tobacco Merchants' Association Protest Against Philippine Tariff Reduction.

At a special meeting of the Janesville Local Tobacco Merchants' Association in Green's Warehouse Saturday evening, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the tobacco interest of our state is jeopardized by the Philippine tariff bill now before congress. Resolved, that we protest against the passage of said bill in its present form and that we earnestly request Senators Spooner and La Follette to use their best efforts in opposition to its passage.

Resolved, that the secretary of this association forward copies of these resolutions to each of the senators from Wisconsin.

Toten Talk

To the Editor: The other day a group of society ladies were discussing that popular topic—roller skating. One lady had recently taken a severe tumble, and said she: "Really, for a minute I thought I was killed, sure!" Said No. 2: "Oh! I don't want to die in the midst of such bliss." At this No. 3 chimed in with, "Well, I don't believe I would mind that much, if I were allowed to take my skates with me!" This remark fired the erratic brain of listening lady No. 4 to the perpetration of the following verse, which, having indited, she passes along to you:

RASTUS JOHNSON'S HEAVEN.
What's the use of habin' wings,
Halos, harps and all such tings,
When finally we reach de upper shore?
Let me hab a par o' skates
An' my choice ob lubly mates,
An' go always rollin' round a golden floor.

Hand in hand wid Lucy Ann
Listenin' to dat heavenly ban,
Close beside de little form dat I adore,
Wid dem shinin' silver wheels,
Jus' like wings upon my heels,
Oh, what could dis darkey ebb'er ask for more?

BASEBALL TALK IS RIFE THROUGHOUT THE CITY

Approach of Spring Brings up the Question of a Team in Janesville.

Baseball fans are again seriously talking of the establishment of a baseball team in Janesville to become a member of the Wisconsin State League. It is probable that this time something definite will be done. At an informal meeting of fans yesterday over a hundred dollars' worth of stock was subscribed in five minutes. If this is possible among a half dozen men it will be easy to get the required sum from the business men. Janesville used to be a good baseball town and there is no reason why it should not be a paying venture here.

Society..

An enterprising and original Chicago confectioner has put out a novelty in chocolate, wrapped in the regulation paper and packed in imitation Turkish cigar boxes, which closely resembles at a little distance the baneful paper-pipe still affected by some of the young men of Wisconsin. At the conclusion of a luncheon given in a Janesville home recently the male guests had been permitted to light their cigars and were just yielding to the soothing influences of the weed when the hostess suddenly arose, opened one of these boxes, and offered its contents to the ladies. The young men tried to look unconcerned but their eyes bulged. One recovered himself and prepared to strike a match and politely tender a light to his table partner. As for the ladies, all but one or two were completely taken by surprise and one strove with poor success to disguise her amazement as she quietly but firmly refused the proffer. The others with a helpless look accepted one of the little "pills" and then, as the awkward situation cleared, everybody indulged in a relieved laugh. "Why, did you dare to think?" queried the hostess. Apologies followed.

With the regular monthly meeting and banquet of one of the men's literary clubs, a dance of the Shirt Waist Club and a skating party, all coming Tuesday night, in addition to several excellent theatrical attractions, church gatherings, and small companies, the week's program of entertainment is still further augmented by the impending arrival of St. Valentine's Day, which will be appropriately celebrated by a number of small companies Wednesday evening. More gaiety will be crowded into the six days now beginning than has been experienced during any other period this year. Man is a social creature by nature. He is also "a bundle of habits" and "happy the man whose habits are his friends"—at the week-end!

Among the visitors at the Chicago automobile show Saturday were Stanley D. Tallman, Frank Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Jeffris, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Carle, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harris. Nearly all are intending purchasers, but the points they insist on are dissimilar. One party wants the best bargain regardless of makes; another insists on having the machine which looks earliest in the photographs, and a third is looking for speed combined with movement as noiseless as possible. The six last named were guests at a house-party given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Tucker Saturday evening.

Palms are again having its periodical vogue among the young ladies and the young man who has not heard exclamations of surprise and wonder over the revelation of inconstancy and fickleness set forth by his heart-line, or the artistic talent which he submerged when he decided to go into business, as made manifest by the tell-tale finger tips, has been neglected. When the average "patient" is told that he is heartless and a cynic he remonstrates but is secretly charmed and delighted. All of which is well understood by the fair amateurs.

California items of interest locally chronicle the arrival at Elmhurst on Thursday last of Miss Lucy Chapman of this city who is to spend several months with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harris and Mrs. Hazzard, old time friends. Miss Edith Saller of Janesville is a guest of her cousin, Mrs. O. L. Spencer, at Long Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns are guests of Mrs. Wilcox on American ave., Long Beach. They are to depart shortly for Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. Ogden H. Fetters are finding rest and enjoyment at San Diego.

Half a dozen friends of Miss Catherine Fifield surprised her at her home on North Jackson street Saturday evening, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. The evening was devoted to music and games and a spread evolved from the lunch-baskets which the visitors brought, with them. The festivities closed with the presentation of an arm-chair, donated into the King's English by Mark Bostwick.

On the coming Thursday, February 15, the annual Home Gathering of the Congregational church members will be held in this city. The social hour is to begin at seven in the evening and after a brief program refreshments will be served in the Sunday school rooms. With favorable weather there will be a large attendance and church members are looking forward to the event with pleasant anticipations.

Assembly hall and Kneff & Hatch's orchestra have been engaged by Tuesday evening, February 27, by the committee appointed by Oriental Lodge No. 22 of the Knights of Pythias to make preparations for an elaborate complimentary ball. It is just possible that the date may be changed but this is deemed unlikely. Preliminary arrangements will be completed at the meeting of the lodge tonight.

Members of the Unique Club, and their friends, numbering nearly a hundred, enjoyed a sacred concert by the Kneff & Hatch orchestra given in the club rooms yesterday afternoon. The program was well chosen and proved very pleasing to all of the guests. The club was organized seven years ago and has a membership of sixty.

Miss Harriet Bostwick will give a St. Valentine's company at her home on Court street Wednesday evening, in honor of Miss Eleanor Morris of Minneapolis, who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Palmer, and Miss Sallie Ruger of Devil's Lake, North Dakota, who is visiting at the home of William Ruger, Sr.

The Loan Band of the Congregational church will not hold their meeting this week, but will meet Feb. 20, when they will be given a lecture on "Architecture" by Dr. Sidney Strong of Chicago.

Members of Janesville City Lodge No. 90, I. O. O. F., and their friends will enjoy a social program and dance at West Side Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening.

It has been definitely decided to give the last of the Inning Club parties sometime after Easter, during the first week perhaps.

Miss Adams and Miss Francis Fishman of Delavan spent Sunday in the city as guests of Miss Harriet McKenney.

Miss Elisabeth Wilcox returned from Madison Saturday evening for a short visit. She was accompanied by Miss Helen Dodson.

Mrs. Frank Stawson departed today for her old home in Tampa, Florida, where she will spend the balance of the winter.

Miss Gertrude Irene Howard, an accomplished young cornet player of Chicago, and Misses Clara and Edna Strothers of Beloit were guests at the home of Mrs. Enoch Taylor Saturday.

A number of friends of John Heller surprised him at his home on South Jackson street Saturday evening. The hours were pleasantly passed in dancing. Paul Licke furnishing the music. Refreshments were served.

Students and faculty of the Southern Wisconsin Business college have issued invitations for a dancing party to take place at East Side Odd Fellows' hall next Friday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank P. Farnsworth will entertain a company of friends at cards at their home on Park Place this evening.

The Misses Lillian, Marjorie, and Charlotte Mount will entertain a small company of friends Wednesday evening.

Winter Golf.

The Mexican Championship Many Courses In the South and California.

Winter golf is assuming greater importance each year. The courses in California, Florida, the Carolinas and Mexico have been developed to high stages of perfection, and hundreds of northern and middle western enthusiasts "tear" themselves away from business for a brief period each year to compete for the valuable prizes offered. Amateurs and professionals alike find winter golf to their liking. The annual tournament for the championship of Mexico has become one of the most popular of the midwinter events. This year several noted English players crossed the Atlantic for no other purpose than to "beat the little white pills" over the championship links at the City of Mexico.

Illinois professionals have proved the most consistent winners in Mexico.

WILLIE ANDERSON, OPEN CHAMPION OF AMERICA.

Willie Anderson, the American champion, and Willie Smith of Chicago won enough money in Mexico last year to keep the wolf from the door for many a day. Smith succeeded in winning the professional championship of Mexico. Dates for several of the big events in California were announced recently. The amateur championship of the Los Angeles Country Club will be played Feb. 22 and the four following days. The women's championship will be played at the Pasadena Country Club in March, and the tournament at Catalina Island is set for the third week of March.

Stretching through the southland from the pines of Virginia to the palms of Florida is a chain of links, numbering in it some of the best in the country, and when the courses of the north are covered with snow or too soft for play golfers may follow their chosen game on these greens, where many of the experts of the country meet and where some of the best tournaments of the year take place. Some of these links are owned by private clubs, and some are managed in connection with hotels, and between the two sport is provided at almost every point where there are people to follow it. Thus there is no particular season for golf. Unlike almost every other game, it is not limited to particular months, but goes on all the year around for those who can travel after it, swinging north or south according to the weather.

Pinehurst, N. C., enjoys the reputation of the principal golfing center of the south, and without respect to locality, it is in fact one of the fine grounds of the country. There are two separate courses at Pinehurst, one of eighteen holes and the other of nine. Each is so laid out that there are no holes crossing. They are seventy or more yards wide, and the soil is sandy enough so that they are never muddy, but not so much so that they are covered with a good growth of grass. The putting greens are "sixty feet square, and are made of hard clay, which is kept covered with a thin coating of fine white sand. A clock golf green beside the clubhouse is a further attraction.

The regular course calls for really good golf. The distances and hazards are well arranged, and there are no trick holes. The ground is undulating, but not hilly, and each hole has a character of its own. There are no trees or other unfair hazards on the course. The distances of the various holes are: No. 1, 385 yards; 2, 375 yards; 3, 119 yards; 4, 310 yards; 5, 213 yards; 6, 280 yards; 7, 437 yards; 8, 213 yards; 9, 355 yards; 10, 311 yards; 11, 153 yards; 12, 317 yards; 13, 285 yards; 14, 500 yards; 15, 357 yards; 16, 500 yards; 17, 152 yards; 18, 385 yards. The distance out is 2,700 yards and in 2,365 yards, a total of 5,065 yards.

Wrestler After the Heavies

Fred Marks, a Sturdy German Wants to Meet Either Jenkins or Beall. Julian His Sponsor Hackenschmidt Could Not Throw Him.

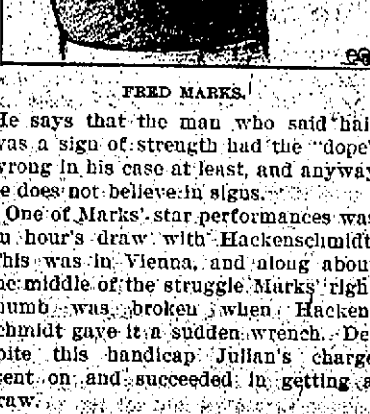

A newcomer has taken a hand, or rather, wants to take a hand, in the heavyweight wrestling game in this country. He is new to America, but not to wrestling. In Fred Marks, of Germany, Julian thinks he has a grapple who can pin the shoulders of either Tom Jenkins or Fred Beall to the mat. If either of these two comes to meet him:

Beall has repeatedly challenged Jenkins, but nothing has been done toward binding a match. Julian has his man ready and is willing to back his confidence in Marks with the coin of the realm. Marks would prefer to take on Jenkins first, but he is willing to meet Beall if the American champion does not want any of his game. Marks bars nobody at the Greco-Roman style.

Jenkins has already expressed his willingness to go on with the German. With Marks and Jenkins as the star attraction Julian can see nothing but a crowd packed into Madison Square Garden, New York, when the two men meet.

On looks Marks is a wonder. He is big any way you take him with one exception, and that is his cute little Kaiser Wilhelm mustache, which is of the orange shade. It turns up as all well regulated Kaiser Wilhelm does, and its baying appearance gives the impression that its owner is constantly issuing challenges to anybody and everybody for a go on the mat.

Two hundred and ten pounds is the weight Marks likes to make when he enters the ring. Stripped of a bout he looks like a bull anticipating the attack of a torador. The German's arm is as big as the average man's leg, and his legs increase proportionately. There are no corners on Marks to get a hold on; nothing, in fact, unless it be this little mustache, for the hair on Marks' head is quite thin, even to baldness.

FRED MARKS.

He says that the man who said "hair was a sign of strength" had the "dope" wrong in his case at least, and anyway he does not believe in signs.

One of Marks' star performances was an hour's draw with Hackenschmidt. This was in Vienna, and along about the middle of the struggle Marks' right thumb was broken when Hackenschmidt gave it a sudden wrench. Despite this handicap Julian's charge went on and succeeded in getting a draw.

That Hackenschmidt did not like the work out-out-for-him by Marks seems very evident, for Marks says that he would never give him a return match. Paul Pons, succumbed to Marks in Berlin in 6 minutes 35 seconds, and John Pohl went the same way in 15 minutes. Marks put the shoulders of Constant Le Busche to the mat in two straight falls, the first in 9 minutes and the second in 18 minutes, and Le Busche is considered one of the best in France. Emable Chalmette, another Frenchman, lasted but four minutes when he got tangled up in one of the German's embraces.

Marks is a giant as is shown by the following measurements: Height, 5 feet 11 1/2 inches; neck, 15 1/2 inches; chest, 40 inches; waist, 45 inches; thigh, 25 1/2 inches; calf, 16 1/2 inches; biceps, 15 1/2 inches; wrist, 8 1/2 inches; weight, 210 pounds.

He was born in Germany in 1868 and is therefore thirty-eight years old. He began wrestling in 1891 and has defeated hundreds of European wrestlers in bouts during his travels. Following is his record:

Defeated John Pohl ..... 15 min.
Defeated Theodore Heidke ..... 12 min.
Defeated Emable Chalmette ..... 7 min.
Defeated Carl Abt ..... 33 min.
Defeated Henry Roben ..... 15 min.
Defeated Mommien Effendi (Turk) ..... 6 min.
Defeated Constant Le Busche ..... 10 min.
Defeated Paul Pons ..... 1 hr. 19 min.
Defeated George Munro ..... 18 min.
Defeated L. Cardova (Italian) (cham- pion) ..... 37 min.
Draw with George Hackenschmidt 1 hr.

King Marriott.

American Auto Racer Whose New Records Are Marvel of World.

Fred Marriott's sensational record breaking auto racing feats at Ormond, Fla., have created worldwide discussion. The first reports of his great speeding exploits on the beach course were thought to be untrue, but later the public was amazed to learn their truth.

Marriott has made Barney Oldfield and W. K. Vanderbilt Jr. look like novices. He broke all existing records for one mile, two miles, five miles and for a kilometer.

He traveled the mile in 28 1/5 seconds, two miles in 58 4/5 seconds and five miles in 2 minutes 47 seconds.

A mile in 28 1/5 seconds means 213 miles a minute, 100 miles in 47 minutes.

FRED MARRIOTT.

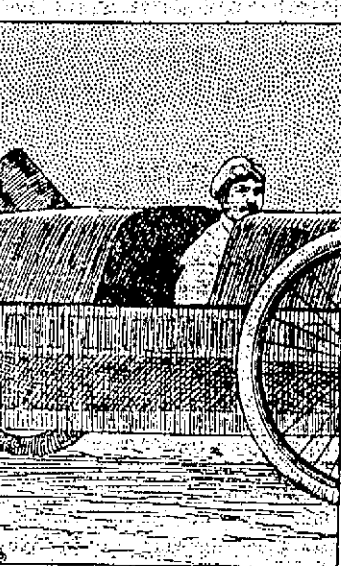

utes, from New York to Chicago in 7.03 hours. The fastest railroad time from New York to Chicago is 16.05 hours.

Marriott's mile race was at the rate of 127.6 miles an hour, faster than the fiercest wind whose speed has ever been measured.

Those who saw the feat will never forget it. At the time they could hardly realize what it meant, for they might as well have tried to estimate the speed of a comet rushing across the sky. Only by the most delicately adjusted automatic arrangement, and the use of fine stop watches controlled electrically, was the result recorded. This means that at last man has come to a point where he can hurl himself from one point to another so rapidly that he no longer can estimate his own rate.

And like a comet, was the great event. The crowd saw the long red canoe-like steamer pass slowly up the beach to the starting point. With its low body and sharp pointed ends, and its great wheels it looked like some vicious red sea monster crawling along the sand. In the middle of its back was a slit, whence peered a bearded and muskied head. It was seemingly a part of the whole. The bearded person was Marriott, the American chauffeur, whose feats to them had not been noted beyond those of scores of other men trailing along behind the reputation of the famous French and Italian speedsters.

The crowd waited, watching the little spot on the beach. Then it began to move, they thought. In another second there was no mistaking it. The dot had grown to the size of a man's hand. There was no more chance to estimate. Like some apparition seen in a dream it flashed forth into a great blur of red seen through haze, dimly visible in a cloud of steam and flying sand. With a humming noise that grew into a roar the cloud was past the judges' stand, where the signal rang out that the mile had begun. Almost before the signal had ceased the shot from the automatic pistol at the finish line told that the mile was over. And far below the finish line the blurring cloud with its throbbing heart of red was fading from sight like a shooting star. "I thought the top of my head was being torn away," said Marriott. "My eyes were turning to water. From the time I started until I slowed down I had no sense of distance or time. I did not know when I passed the judges' stand, nor did I hear the pistol at the finish. I expected it would be this way when I laid out my course as if I were aiming a gun. Then I clung to the wheel and was carried on."

"I might just as well have been riding in a projectile for all I knew of my speed. I guessed I must have passed the finish line, and then I began to slow down."

CORPORATION IS FREE FROM SIN

Wrong Is in Public Policy of State and National Government.

COMBINES CONTINUE TO GROW

Not a Single Trust Has Been Destroyed by Legislation of Fourteen Years. Because None Is Jailed for Violating the Injunction.

New York, Feb. 12.—Judge F. S. Grosscup, of the federal circuit court, Chicago, addressed the New Rochelle People's forum Sunday on American corporations. Judge Grosscup was introduced as the man whose name has been given to the plan of regulating corporations, by giving the power of chartering them to the federal government. He said:

"The great difficulty in the industrial life of America is not the existence of the corporation. The corporation itself has no sin. Being but the elaboration of the first incorporation formed by two men staking their combined wealth for common cause, it is a potential agency not only for encouraging the strength of many men to a common purpose but also of preserving to the individual his share in the development of the country's industries."

Not Wrong in Itself.

"Now, why has it not done that? Why have we been legislating against trusts for fourteen years without destroying a single trust? Why have we been issuing injunctions against them, without jailing a single man for violating injunctions?"

"This outcry has not arisen because a corporation is wrong, any more than that a factory, railroad or any other improvement in modern life over its primitive predecessor is wrong. The wrong is in the public policy of the state and national government, that has permitted a corporation to become the exclusive right of a few people."

"If when the transformation was taking place by which individual shopkeepers give place to great concerns there had been carried with it the proprietorship and co-operation of the men whose places were taken, neither outcry nor causes for it would arise."

"Such was not the case and for good reason. Five men can sit around a table, put $1 in the center, and organize a corporation calling for a million dollars worth of capital. Then they can repocket the dollar and go home after sending a certificate of incorporation to the secretary of state, with a million dollar enterprise ready to launch. This is illustrated under the laws of any state in the union except Massachusetts, and perhaps New York—and I am not sure I can except New York."

Investors Hold Empty Bag.

"Twenty-five years ago a man bought up the street car lines of Chicago, saying he was going to improve transportation facilities. He was hailed as a great municipal benefactor. His corporation seemed so honestly organized and managed that from 5,000 to 10,000 people took stock. But it didn't take long to see that instead of taking the income to improve the road he thought he could get better results by going into the La Salle street stock market. By letting the road run down and paying high dividends he raised the stock several times what he had paid for it and then sold out. The stockholders are now in my court administering the affairs of the road."

Corporations have got into the suspect class. They must be got back into the transformation state again, back to a sharing in them by the individual man. Citizenship of the country must be invited back into proprietorship in them."

BONDSMEN CAPTURE FUGITIVE

Nashua, N. H., Official Will Be Tried for Embezzlement.

Nashua, N. H., Feb. 12.—Alfred A. Hall, formerly city clerk of Nashua, who was arrested two years ago on the charge of embezzlement, was brought here from Chicago, by his bondsmen, one of whom is his father, and in the superior court surrendered by them. In 1901 Hall disappeared and it was found upon investigation that the city's funds were about $1,600 short. He was arrested in St. Louis in February, 1904, and brought back here. His bail was placed at $3,000. Hall was indicted, but left the city before his case was called for trial.

PUTS DYNAMITE IN THE STOVE.

Angry Slav Seeks to Blow Up Boarding House and Hurts Two.

Brownsville, Pa., Feb. 12.—George Carter, a Slav, was arrested Sunday night for attempting to blow up a boarding house with dynamite at White set, a mining settlement in Fayette county. Carter had quarreled with two fellow countrymen and left the house. Later he returned and threw a stick of dynamite into the stove. In the explosion which followed two Slavs were seriously injured and were taken to a hospital at Conneville.

Boy Hurls Bomb at Troops.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Feb. 12.—A bomb thrown by a boy in Sgoda street exploded and mortally wounded four gendarmes. The boy escaped. Assaults on the police throughout the government continue.

MAN TO CREATE LIFE

German Visitor Says He Will Do It by Science.

MAY EVEN PRODUCE ANIMALS

Professor Ostwald of Leipzig University Predicts Amazing Evolution of Jacques Loeb's Discoveries. "Who Knows but a New Order of Humanity May Be Created?" He Says.

Man through his advanced science may develop into a creator himself, is the opinion of Professor Wilhelm Ostwald of the University of Leipzig, advanced in a lecture at Columbia university on the results of the attempts to create life through chemical processes, says the New York World.

Professor Ostwald has given careful attention to the experiments of Professor Jacques Loeb of the University of California and announces with confidence his belief that by slow development science may even create a type of life as high as that of our domestic animals.

The steps will be slow. One form of life will be produced after another, and eventually the professor expects something almost akin to man in its physical being may be produced.

Professor Ostwald is a bold thinker and a daring talker. His belief that man may eventually usurp some of the functions of the Creator is, he says, based on careful study and research, and that some new form of being of the highest type, with the ability to propagate its kind, will walk the earth as a product of advanced science he considers as certain as that modern mechanical invention will take forward strides in the coming century.

"There is practically no limit to what man can do in this direction," he said. "Of course, at first he will be able to produce only a piece of protoplasm, something like the water hydra or the resemblance of the sea urchin, that Professor Loeb has evolved, but it will be instinct with real life and will be a step in the new evolution. This evolution can only result in the creation of something the equal of our higher animals, but what it will be who shall say?"

"It seems to me that the scientist who does this will be able to determine the physical form of his creation after the development has started, and he will have created a new order of life for this being will multiply in its own form indefinitely, just the same as all our modern animals."

"I am not a biologist. I am just a chemist. I cannot say whether this creation of man will be crustacean, amphibian, mammalian or whether tripe, quadruped, fish, fowl or reptile. I can only say that after careful study of what has been accomplished I am overwhelmed at the inevitable probabilities. I know that by inorganic processes organic being can be produced, and future generations may be furnished with a living object lesson in the doctrine of evolution. Who knows but a new order of humanity may be created? We cannot yet fully explain the fact and phenomena of life, and, after all, a living thing is nothing but a system of energy and life—it is but a matter of chemistry."

HYPNOLOGY AS LIFE SAVER.

Patient, Fatally Ill, Rallied at Command, Says Dr. Quackenbos.

In the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York the other night the Entertainment club, of which Mrs. Roswell D. Hitchcock is president, held what was called a metaphysical evening, says the New York Herald.

The leading speaker was Dr. John D. Quackenbos, who, in an essay on "Transminal Power" announced to a large and intelligent audience his latest discovery in hypnotic science—that suggestions given as death actually imparts have a power absolutely unparalleled in any other mental state.

He held that this was due to the fact that the results of hypnotic inspiration bear "a distinct relationship to the degree of isolation from brain and sensory activities, and this degree climaxes at the moment when the spirit has all but abandoned its corporeal invisibility."

"In June last," he said, "I was called to the bedside of a young woman who during the month preceding had passed through a series of infections culminating in pneumonia. Her condition equivalent a death sentence—temperature 107 1/2, pulse 160, respiration 60—and the attending physicians had withdrawn from the case as beyond the pale of hope."

"As I looked at the girl an inspiration came to me. I took her by the hand; learned her first name from the nurse and said, with great incisiveness: 'Adele, where are you going? You cannot die! Come back! You have work to do on earth. Come back at once!' In answer to the summons the upturned eyes resumed their natural angle and became riveted on mine. The voice that had for days uttered only the ravings of delirium now spoke coherently."

"It is too late," it murmured. "It is not too late, I rejoined. 'Do not dare to say it is too late. Stay where you are. Assume immediate control of your physical functions and get well. You are going to recover—all this in an imperative, forceful tone. The directions were implicitly followed. A change for the better supervened. Gradually the mental mist cleared away, the physical strength returned, and today the young woman is perfectly well, filling an important position in the choir of an uptown church in New York."

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, February 12, 1866.—A Bad Break But Not Dead Broke.—In consequence of a serious break in our large cylinder press on Saturday afternoon, we were unable to furnish our subscribers with the Gazette Saturday evening. We regret the accident, but as they will happen in the best of families, they must be submitted to with the best possible grace that we can command. By the kindness and promptness of Messrs. Harris & Co., of the Rock River Iron Works, we have had the break repaired much sooner than could be expected.

The Next State Fair.—We learn from a gentleman that was present at a meeting of the Executive Board of the State Agricultural Society, held on Wednesday last, a discussion rose as to the selection of a place for the next State Fair, and that the expression of the members was nearly unanimous in favor of this city; provided as liberal terms were offered there as were elsewhere. As such terms will undoubtedly be extended by our public spirited citizens, we can reasonably expect that the next State Fair will be held in this place. The last fair was one of the most successful ever held, and the officers of the society are not indifferent to the interest which the people of old Rock take in such matters.

Attempted Suicide.—An attempt was made Friday morning by a woman named Covell, residing in the Fourth ward of this city, to commit suicide by drowning. She in the first place threw herself from a second story window, and then jumped into the cistern. Her rescue was effected by Mr. Wm. F. Burroughs, who happened opportunely on the spot. It is impossible to tell at present whether the injuries she received will result fatally or not. The motives which prompted to the deed, rumor gives as follows: Since the decease of Mr. Covell some months ago, the three daughters of whom the one above named is the second, have shown signs of mental aberrations which have been increased by surmises and innuendoes until by a concerted arrangement they had agreed to destroy themselves. In conformity with the plan the second sister was to inaugurate the tragedy, the youngest was to be the next victim, while the eldest was to consummate it. Such is the story given of the affair.

Variegated Hair is coming into fashion. We saw a young lady today with three different kinds. Her natural hair was light brown, her own hair, in coil, formerly worn by one of the F. F. V.'s, now "D. H." was dark brown, and the ringlets that toyed about her alabaster neck were of a dark auburn hue. She looked "so sweet."—Exchange.

CATARRH FIRST A COLD THEN CATARRH THEN CONSUMPTION

A cold in the head is a common ailment, but it rarely ever stops there. It often grows stubborn and protracted, the mucous membranes, or inner lining of the body, become inflamed and secrete a filthy, unhealthy matter which is absorbed by the blood, and soon produces that disgusting disease, Catarrh. Then follow the unpleasant symptoms of "hawking" and "spitting." I had Catarrh for twelve years and suffered agony with headaches, nose stopped up, appetite poor, felt tired and into the throat, and a feeling of general debility. Every day the blood taking eleven bottles. I found myself becoming more heavily loaded with these poisonous secretions, and if the trouble is allowed to run on, the lungs become diseased from the constant passage of poisoned blood through them, and then Catarrh terminates in the most dreaded and fatal of all diseases, Consumption. The only way to get rid of Catarrh permanently is to cleanse the blood, and S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this purpose. It soon clears the system of all impurities, purges the blood of all Catarrhal matter and poisons, and effectually checks the progress of this dangerous and far-reaching disease. S. S. S. keeps the blood in perfect order so that Catarrh cannot remain, and of corner of the body, the entire system is strengthened and invigorated, and the symptoms all pass away. ## SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Introduces the hero, Robert Warburton, a West Point graduate on duty in Arizona. After being wounded by an Indian, he resigns his commission in the army and leaves for European tour.

CHAPTER II.—Introduces the heroine, Miss Betty Annesley, daughter of a retired army officer living near Washington. A beautiful, representative young American girl, whom Warburton has seen in Paris, is smitten, and follows to New York. Seeks introduction on board steamer but fails.

CHAPTER III.—Upon reaching New York Warburton locates hotel in which the Annesleys are guests and dines there prior to see Miss Annesley. He is charged to see young Russian count whom he met on steamer, bring Miss Annesley in to dinner. Next morning the count and the Annesleys had disappeared.

CHAPTER IV.—Warburton goes to Washington to visit his relatives—a married brother, who holds a government position, and a sister-in-law, who is an old school chum of his. Invited to accompany family to ball at British embassy, but declines. Conceals a scheme to play a joke on his sister and sister-in-law.

CHAPTER V.—Warburton meets his sister's fiancé, whom he had not seen for eight years. Sees the folks off for the embassy ball and then proceeds to put his joke into execution, which is to disguise himself as a coachman and drive his sister and sister-in-law, who return alone, from the embassy to their home.

CHAPTER VI.—Warburton in his disguise goes to British embassy and takes the place of his brother's coachman. He has to ride to the embassy in his carriage number when called and gets the wrong passengers without knowing it. Drives frantically about the streets pursued by mounted policemen. When carriage comes to a stop he springs down and throws his arms about the first of the passengers to alight, who proves to be Miss Annesley instead of his sister.

CHAPTER VII.—Warburton is arrested on a charge of drunkenness and abduction preferred by Miss Annesley and locked up overnight. In police court, where he has given the name of James Osborne, the charge of abduction is withdrawn but he is held for drunkenness. Sends note to "Chuck," his old chum, telling of his trouble.

CHAPTER VIII.—"Chuck" takes suit of clothes and money to pay the fine to city jail, only to find that fine had been paid. Warburton, in name of James Osborne, receives note from Miss Annesley offering him position of coachman, which he decides to accept. In spite of protests of his friends, who leave to explain his disappearance to his relatives, by stating that he had gone north suddenly on a hunting trip.

CHAPTER IX.—Miss Annesley, known to her as James Osborne, at her home, hires him on probation. After being about a week, she tells him to leave to ride an exceptionally vicious thoroughbred called "Pirate." With Miss Annesley's permission he saddles and mounts the horse, which immediately bolts.

CHAPTER X.—After a fierce struggle Warburton succeeds in mastering "Pirate" in the presence of Miss Annesley but is active in word of praise. Interview between "Col. Annesley" and daughter in which he tells her that he has investigated and that he has no objection to dine with them on the morrow.

CHAPTER XIII.

A RUNAWAY.

Four days passed. I might have used the word "speed," only that verb could not be truthfully applied. Never before in the history of time (so our Jehu thought) did four days pass so few shadows more slowly across the dial of the hours. From noon till night there was a maddening nothing to do but polish bits and buckles and stirrups and ornamental silver. He would have been totally miserable but for the morning rides. These were worth while; for he was riding "Pirate," and there was always that expectation of the unexpected. But "Pirate" behaved himself puzzlingly well. Fortunately for the Jehu, these rides were always into the north country. He was continually possessed with fear lest she would make him drive through the shopping district. If he met Nancy, it would be, in the parlance of the day, all off. Nancy would have recognized him in a beard like a Cossack's; and here he was with the boy's face—the face she never would forget.

He was desperately in love. I do not know what desperately in love is, my own love's course running smoothly enough; but I can testify that it was making Mr. Robert thin and appetiteless. Every morning the impulse came to him to tell her all; but every morning his courage oozed like Bob Acres', and his lips became dumb. I dare say that if she had questioned him he would have told her all; but for some reason she had ceased to inquire into his past. Possibly her young mind was occupied with pleasant things.

He became an accomplished butler, and served so well in rehearsals that Pierre could only grumble. One afternoon she superintended the comedy. She found a thousand faults with him, so many, in fact, that Pierre did not understand what it meant, and became possessed with the vague idea that she was hitting him over the groin's shoulder. He did not like it, and later, when they were alone, Warburton was distinctly impressed with Pierre's displeasure.

"You can not please her, and you can not please me. Bah! Zat ees vat comes of teaching a groom table manners instead of stable manners. And you vil smell of horse! I do not understand Moes Annesley; no!"

And there were other humiliations, petty ones. She chided him on having the stirrup too long or too short; the curb chain was rusting; this piece of ornamental silver did not shine like that one. Jane's felloes were too long; "Pirate's" hoofs weren't thoroughly oiled. With dogged patience he tried to remedy all these faults. It was only when they had had a romping run down the road that this spirit left away from her, and she talked pleasantly.

Twice he ran into Karloff, but that shrewd student of human nature did not consider my hero worth studying; horse. "Knew that his mistress was not sure of him. He showed the whites of his eyes and began pawing the gravel. The girl glanced covertly at her groom and found no color in his cheeks. Two small muscular lumps appeared at the corners of her jaws. She would ride "Pirate," and nothing should stop her, nothing, nothing. Womanlike, knowing herself to be in the wrong, she was furious."

And "Pirate" surprised them both. During the first mile he behaved himself in the most gentlemanly fashion; and if he shied once or twice, waited a little, it was only because he was full of life and spirit. They trotted, they cantered, ran and walked. Warburton, hitherto holding himself in readiness for whatever might happen, relaxed the tension of his muscles, and his shoulders sank relievedly. Perhaps, after all, his alarm had been needless. The trouble, with "Pirate" might be the infrequency with which he had been ridden. But he knew that the girl would not soon forget his interference. There would be more humiliations, more bitter pills for him to swallow. It pleased him, however, to note the ease with which Dick kept pace with "Pirate."

As for the most beautiful person in all the great world, I am afraid that she was beginning to feel self-important. "Now that her confidence was fully restored, she never once spoke to or looked at her groom. Occasionally from the corner of her eye she could see the white patch on Dick's nose. "James," she said maliciously and suddenly, "go back five yards. I wish to ride alone."

Warburton, his face burning, fell back. And thus she made her first mistake. The second and final mistake came immediately after. She touched "Pirate" with her heel, and he broke from a trot into a lively gallop. Dick, without a touch of the boot, kept his distance to a foot. "Pirate," no longer seeing Dick at his side, concluded that he had left his rival behind, and the suppressed mischief in his black head began to find an outlet. Steadily he arched his neck; steadily but surely he drew down on the reins. The girl felt the effort and tried to frustrate it. In backing her pull with her right hand, the end of her crop flashed down the side of "Pirate's" head—the finishing touch. There was a wild leap, a blur of dust, and Mr. "Pirate," well named after his freebooting sires, his head down where he wanted it; his feet rolling like a snare-drum, Mr. "Pirate" ran away, headed for heaven only knows where.

For a brief moment Warburton lost his nerve; he was struck with horror. If she could not hold her seat, she would be killed or dreadfully hurt, and perhaps disfigured. It seemed rather strange, as he recalled it, that Dick, instead of himself, should have taken the initiative. The noble sorrel, formerly a cavalry horse, shot forward magnificently. Doubtless his horse sense took in the situation, or else he did not like the thought of yonder proud, supercilious show-horse beating him in a running race. So, a very fast mile was put to the rear.

The girl, appreciating her peril, did as all good horsewomen would have done; locked her knees on the horn and held on. The rush of wind tore the plume from her hair which, like a golden plume, stretched out behind her. (Have you ever read any thing like this before? I dare say. But to Warburton and the girl, it never occurred that other persons had gone through like episodes. It was real, and actual, and single, and tragic to them.)

The distance between the two horses began slowly to lessen, and Warburton understood, in a nebulous way, what the girl had meant when she said that Dick could outrun "Pirate." If "Pirate" kept to the road, Dick would bring him down; but if "Pirate" took it into his head to vault a fence! Warburton shuddered. Faster, faster, over this roll of earth, clattering across this bridge, around this curve and that angle. Once the sight of a team drawing a huge grain-wagon sent a shiver to Warburton's heart. But they thundered past with a foot to spare. The old negro on the seat stared after them, his ebony face drawn with wonder and the whites of his eyes showing. Foot by foot, yard by yard, the space lessened, till Dick's nose was within three feet of "Pirate's" flowing tail. Warburton fairly lifted Dick along with his knees. I only wish I could describe the race as my Jehu told it to me. The description held me by the throat. I could see the flashing by of trees and houses and fields, the scampering of plover on the meadows dashing up to the fences and whinnying, the fine stone and dust which "Pirate's" rattling heels threw into my Jehu's face and eyes, the old pain throbbing anew in his leg. And when he finally drew alongside the black brute and saw the white set face of the girl he loved, I can imagine no greater moment but one in his life. There was no fear on her face, but there was appeal in her eyes as she half turned her head. He leaped across the intervening space and alid his arm around her waist. The two horses came together and twisted his leg cruelly. His jaws snapped.

FOURTEEN HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Broken Flange Precipitates Cars Down Embankment onto Lake.

SMOTHERS FIRE WITH HIS COAL

Soliciting Freight Agent Prevents Holocaust by His Presence of Mind in Putting Out Lamps and Charcoal Range in Dining Car.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12.—Wisconsin Central train No. 2 from St. Paul to Chicago was wrecked at Theresa near here Sunday night by the breaking of a wheel. Four coaches, the smoker and diner went down a fifteen-foot embankment. Fourteen persons were hurt, none fatally.

When the train bumped over the ties for a hundred yards before the cars were overturned, the passengers were thrown into a panic and there was a dash for the doors. Before any of the passengers could jump, however, the cars were thrown over the embankment.

The body of Mrs. Fred Schumacher of Medford was being taken to her former home in Chicago. The coffin was torn open and the body fell out, with the relatives into a ditch. Among the injured are:

Andrew Christenson, cook.

Goehardt M. Dahl, attorney, Stevens Point; four scalp wounds.

The Rev. Protache, Fond du Lac; C. L. Meyer, Milwaukee.

Robert M. Mueller, Milwaukee; bank teller; scalp wounds.

Mrs. A. S. Palmer, Oshkosh; L. W. Riggs, Fond du Lac.

Cars on Frozen Lake.

Gerhard M. Dahl of Stevens Point, district attorney of Portage county, one of the injured, said:

"Our train had just passed through Theresa and we were going at a pretty fast clip. Suddenly the car in which I was seated lurched violently to the left and then seemed to drop down some distance, after which it turned over on its side and slid over the ground. We were thrown about the car in total darkness. The gas began to escape and we broke several windows over our heads to let in air."

"It was quite a time before we got out, at last, managing to escape through the front door. There were seven people in my car, which was the second one. When I got out, I found the entire train of six cars lying on the frozen surface of a lake. I understand the accident was caused by the breaking of the flange on one of the driving wheels. I don't think there were more than twenty on board of these fourteen cars were injured."

Robert W. Mueller, teller at the First National bank in this city, said: "I was thrown violently against the side of the car and knew nothing more until I recovered consciousness in a nearby house. My head was cut, my back was injured, and my left eye felt as if it had been put out."

Prevents Fire in Wreck.

A. K. Ford, soliciting freight agent of the Wisconsin Central, and Emil Noerenberg were on the train. Mr. Noerenberg was injured, but I believe Mr. Ford was not. Mr. Ford took off his coat and smothered the lamps, preventing a fire. The dining car was at the rear end. There was a charcoal range in this car. Mr. Ford also put out this fire.

"The accident was caused by the breaking of a tire on one of the drive wheels of the engines," said Joseph Sharkey, who was present, "just as the train was passing through Theresa, running at the time at a speed of 50 to 60 miles an hour. When the broken wheel struck the switch the rail flew up, derailing six passenger coaches. These turned over as they shot down over a ten-foot embankment and then slid out upon the lake 150 feet from the track. The engine and baggage car were broken loose from the other coaches and ran down the track fully a mile before the engineer could bring them to a stop."

"Where the accident occurred is but a few rods from the village of Theresa, and many of the citizens hurried to the assistance of those in the overturned cars, aiding in the removal of the injured, who were carried to the village hotel."

Chicago-Florida Limited Wrecked.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 12.—The Illinois Central's Chicago and Florida limited was wrecked at Chapmansboro, thirty-four miles west of here, at 8 o'clock Sunday night. Conductor S. A. Cherry, Engineer Charles McGee and two passengers whose names have not yet been obtained, were injured. Six other passengers were slightly hurt. The train is said to have struck an obstruction on the track. The engine, baggage car, smoker and first chair car were derailed and turned over. The sleepers did not leave the track.

Wealthy Man Found Dead.

Boonville, Mo., Feb. 12.—Robert Kerper, proprietor of the Boonville foundry and machine works was found dead with his head between two fence pickets. It is supposed he was stricken with apoplexy and fell.

PRESIDENT BAER IN DEFENSE

Declares Attack on Roads Is Based on Cowardice and Falsehood.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 12.—George F. Baer, president of the Reading railroad, has issued a statement concerning the action of the Pennsylvania house of representatives in adopting a resolution instructing the attorney general to proceed against the anthracite carrying roads. The resolution names the Pennsylvania railroad, the Philadelphia and Reading railway company and the Delaware Lackawanna and Western railroad company. Mr. Baer says the reign of law has not ceased in Pennsylvania, and that investors need not be alarmed by the vagaries of the legislature. He insists that all the corporations in the state obtained their rights and franchises under the constitution, and these rights cannot be contravened without due process of law. Mr. Baer also gives figures to show the cost of coal production, declaring that the statements in the resolution of the house are cowardly and false. He says the increased profit on anthracite coal for the last seven years is only 10.3 cents a ton.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED ON BRIDGE

Colored Man, Charged With Murder of White Woman, Put to Death.

Gadsden, Ala., Feb. 12.—Bunkie Richardson, a negro, charged with the assault and murder of Mrs. Sarah Smith, a white woman, here July 15 last, was taken from the jail here by a crowd of men at an early hour Sunday morning and hanged to a bridge across the Coosa river. Four negroes were charged with the crime against Mrs. Smith, two of whom have been legally executed. The third, Will Johnson, was recently convicted and sentenced to death, but last week Gov. Jinks, believing there was strong doubt of the prisoner's guilt, reversed the negro's sentence to life imprisonment. Richardson, the man lynched, had not been indicted, but was in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Death Takes Whole Family.

Galveston, Texas, Feb. 12.—Following the death of William Hueske Feb. 8, his 15-year-old daughter, died Feb. 8, and her mother and grandfather passed away Feb. 9. One funeral was held for the three, all being laid in the same plot. This branch of the family is now entirely eliminated.

Miners Hurt in Explosion.

Boonville, Ind., Feb. 12.—In an explosion resulting from accumulated gas in the Polk mines near here Joseph Kelly, Adrian Robinson, Commodore Gentry and Claude Wheeler, coal miners, were severely burned.

Killed by Fall From Train.

Ashabula, O., Feb. 12.—Fritz Laten, while returning from his father's funeral in Swanville, Pa., was standing on a train platform in Saybrook, O., waving farewell to his sister, when he fell and was instantly killed.

Shoots Negro Assailant.

Morton, Pa., Feb. 12.—Miss Bertha Glemann, daughter of a wealthy family, twice shot a negro who tried to enter her room. The negro is in a serious condition and Miss Glemann says she hopes he will die.

Killed Crossing Railroad Tracks.

Templeton, Iowa, Feb. 12.—Frank Reiser, a farm hand, was killed and Peter Klein, his employer, probably fatally injured while driving across the tracks of the Milwaukee railroad on their way to town.

SEEK REPRIEVE FOR HOCH.

Wife Who Testified Against Murderer and Attorney to See Dencen.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—Attorney Frank Comerford, counsel for Johann Hoch, the Chicago wife murderer, accompanied by Mrs. Emma Fisher Hoch, arrived in Springfield last night. Today they will appear before Gov. Deneen with a plea for clemency on behalf of the condemned man, arrangements having been made for a hearing. The attorney left the hotel soon after his arrival and Mrs. Hoch denied herself to every one.

Mexican Tobacco Growers Prosper.

City of Mexico, Feb. 12.—Owing to the failure of the tobacco crop in the Yucatan district of Cuba heavy orders from Europe have been placed with Mexican tobacco growers in the states of Vera Cruz and Oaxaca. The price has risen and planters are enjoying great prosperity.

Indicted Banker Is Freed.

Denver, Feb. 12.—District Judge Carpenter, quashed the indictments against J. H. Edmondson, former president of the Denver Savings bank, charging embezzlement of $105,000. He held that the alleged crime was outlawed by the statute of limitations.

Lives Despite Broken Neck.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 12.—Elmer Lambert, whose neck was dislocated in a runaway accident near Pontiac last Thursday, is alive, to the great wonder of attending physicians. Lambert has not recovered consciousness since receiving his injury.

Street Railway Plant Burns.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The entire plant and equipment of the Poughkeepsie City and Wappinger Falls Electric Railway company was destroyed by fire Sunday. The loss is $150,000; insurance, $80,000.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with female troubles, which caused me severe pain, extreme nervousness and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time I felt better, and after taking five bottles of it was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a splendid female tonic. It makes the monthly periods regular and without pain, and what a blessing it is to find such a remedy after many doctors fail to help you. I am pleased to recommend it to all suffering women."

Mrs. Sara Wilson, 31 East 3d Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't care" and "want to be left alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, or some derangement of the organs. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—both branches of the general assembly. Governor Beckham, Chief Justice Hobson and other representatives of the executive and judicial branches of the state government were in attendance.

—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Day in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 12.—The Lincoln Club of this city has concluded elaborate preparations for its annual banquet tonight in celebration of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The principal address is to be delivered by Congressman Eben W. Martin of South Dakota.

In Oklahoma.

South McAlester, Okla., Feb. 12.—The third annual Lincoln Day banquet takes place here tonight under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican club. Several speakers of wide prominence have been secured for the function.

Banquet in Kansas.

Pratt, Kas., Feb. 12.—Preparations have been concluded for a banquet to be given by the Lincoln Day club here tonight, to which two hundred guests have been invited. Former Governor Stanley of Wichita and Carr W. Taylor of Topeka are scheduled as the principal speakers.

FISHERMEN SLEEP IN WATER.

Charge Made Against Skipper of Oyster Schooner by Employes.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 12.—United States Marshal Morgan Treat and Commissioner Percy S. Stephenson have returned on the revenue cutter Windom from an expedition among the oyster dredging fleets in Chesapeake bay. While over fifty vessels were hoarded and conditions indicated that captains in a number of instances were holding men in a state bordering upon slavery only one arrest was made. W. E. Justice, master of a schooner, was charged with forcing his employes to sleep on a floor which was often flooded with water. Captain Justice was held for the federal grand jury at Norfolk.

British Troops in Danger.

London, Feb. 12.—Reynolds' Weekly Newspaper says that the small British garrison left in Taitet has been surrounded by hostile tribes and that an expedition for its relief is necessary.

Hunter Shoots Himself.

Williamstown, Mass., Feb. 12.—Edwin W. Day of Chicago, a freshman at Williams college, accidentally shot himself with a rifle while hunting. The wound is not serious.

Three Burn in Prison.

Eastman, Ga., Feb. 12.—D. A. Cooper, Elbert Mullis and John B. Hart, all white men, were cremated in a fire which destroyed the city police barracks.

SAVINGS BANK TO PAY LESS THAN HALF

Inventory by Receiver Indicates Depositors Will Suffer to Extent of at Least 50 Per Cent.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 12.—Fred Wilton, receiver for the Peoples Savings bank, of which Rey. George Simmons was president, is authority for the statement that from indications the bank cannot pay much above 50 cents on the dollar.

Wilton was appointed receiver for the bank shortly before noon Saturday after the private box of the late Dr. Simmons was opened at the interstate bank and found to contain nothing of value. He at once took charge of the bank and made a hasty examination of the assets.

With the failure to find any contract for the sale of the Moon stock to the Egg-O-See company of Quincy the value of the $30,000 block of Moon stock held as an asset by the bank has dwindled to a question mark. Further developments which indicate that not over two-thirds of this stock, whatever its value, actually belonged to Simmons or the bank has further depreciated the bank assets.

The hasty inventory made by Receiver Wilton summed up the resources of the bank at about $60,000, with liabilities which will run above $110,000 and may reach $130,000.

The building in which the bank has been conducted, at the corner of Adams and Cedar streets, is owned by the bank and bears a mortgage of $8,000. Its value to the bank is placed at about $35,000 clear of the mortgage.

There are other securities with a par value of $40,000, but taking into consideration the careless management which it has been known was the custom of the dead banker-preacher these securities are placed at $30,000.

Cats That Eat Olives.

A woman in Philadelphia has recently discovered that her six cats are passionately fond of olives. She says they will leave milk or fish or any of the foods that cats are supposed to love if any one offers them olives. Although they are an acquired taste with human beings, cats seem to take to them naturally, and she found that the cats in the houses of her friends seemed to be quite as fond of them as were her own pets.

Athenian Fire Department.

Athens, Greece, has many fine buildings, but the provisions for fighting fires are most inadequate. The fire brigade consists of men detailed from the regular army, who, in addition to clothes, and keep, get only ten cents a week!

WOOLIN MILL IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Manufacturing Firms Are Rendered Homeless When Structure Built in 1849 Is Consumed.

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 12.—Fire which destroyed the Stolp Woolen mill, building on Stolp's Island, Sunday morning, with an estimated loss of $125,000, for a time threatened the western portion of the business district of the city. The blaze originated, it is thought, in the Newmeyer Wrapper company's factory, which occupied part of the Stolp building, and spread rapidly through the structure.

Immediately east of the building is the postoffice and city hall. The fire department, by hard work, saved these two structures. A few minutes after the fire started the Stolp building was a mass of flames, which burst through the roof. A stiff breeze carried blazing embers to the west side of the river, a distance of two blocks, but no damage was done there.

The Stolp building was occupied by the following manufacturing firms, whose losses will be heavy: American Suspender company, Newmeyer Wrapper Manufacturing company, Messinger & Parks, cornicemakers, and Miller Signal company.

Adjoining the burned building were the hatter's shop of Miss Fanny Lightcap and the millinery store of Mrs. Wilford Kinney, whose losses will be heavy.

The Christian Science church was burned out, but some of the effects were saved. The Stolp building was one of the oldest structures in Aurora, being built in 1849 by the late John Stolp, and was used by him as a woolen mill until 1887.

BUSINESS WITH SPAIN IS GOOD

Traffic With Alfonso's Kingdom and Portugal Is Large.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Trade of the United States with Spain and Portugal amounted in the fiscal year 1905 to more than $34,000,000 according to a report issued by the department of commerce and labor. Of this, $15,000,000 was imports and $19,000,000 exports. Of the imports $6,500,000 was from Portugal and $8,500,000 from Spain. Of the exports, $2,000,000 went to Portugal and $17,000,000 to Spain.

Not Otherwise.

A woman's proper place is at home, when she is needed there; not otherwise. Why should woman be expected to play the part of an indoor-grocery cabbage, while we men are free, butterfly-like, to roam the world's garden on wings?—Coulson Kernahan, in Ideas.

INVESTMENTS IN MEXICO.

Approximately $500,000,000 Put Into Lands and Industries by Americans.

Americans have invested approximately $500,000,000 in Mexico during the past 25 years, a small amount in comparison with the total wealth of the country, but that $500,000,000 has accomplished more during that time for the development of Mexico than all the rest of the capital of the country, reports the Review of Reviews.

We have invested $75,000,000 in Mexican mines—an incidentally have got the money back in payment for mining machinery sold to the Mexicans. But we have taught Mexico modern mining methods, and have thereby increased the aggregate value of Mexican mines probably a hundredfold.

We have invested $25,000,000 in agricultural enterprises in Mexico, and during the same time we have sold to Mexico about that much agricultural machinery. We have taught the Mexicans how to farm, and have added to their potential wealth in farming lands a hundred times $25,000,000.

We have invested a few millions in Mexican banking enterprises, and have taught the Mexicans banking and the use of banks. We have built hydraulic power plants and taught the Mexicans how to utilize the enormous amount of energy which was going to waste in their waterfalls by transforming it into electrical energy. We are paying city streets with asphalt, putting in sewer and water works systems, electric lighting plants and street car systems, replacing cumbersome old buildings with modern, steel-frame structures, changing the external appearance of things generally. We have invested in city real estate, and are teaching the Mexicans how to build a city. Witness the remarkable change in the City of Mexico in the past ten years.

GOVERNS PRICES OF DOGS

Sentiment of Purchaser Has Much to Do with the Value of Animals.

The price paid for a dog seems to be governed not so much by the value of the animal as the sentiment of the purchaser in the vast majority of cases, and, as a rule, the sporting dog brings the lowest figure, says the Baltimore News. Doubtless this is due to the fact that the man who wants a gun dog is a practical person, while the seeker after the "show dog" pays for the "show." It is granted right here that many a good gun dog also shows well, but the highest prices go for the show animal, pure and simple.

At a recent sale of pointers and setters at Birmingham, England, one of the most important sales in years, the entire lot—two score or more—sold for 605 guineas. The highest price paid was 65 guineas for the famous female pointer, Coronation (4½ years), the winner of many championships, while among the bidders the price was lightfield Bang (4½), a great field trial winner, who brought only 27 guineas. American purchasers would have thought these dogs cheap at $1,000 apiece.

In contrast with these prices, the bull terrier Woodcote Wonder sold in New Haven for $5,000 to a San Francisco purchaser. Richard Crocker, Jr., paid $3,000 for his champion Rodney Stone, and Frank Gould paid as high as $5,000 for a St. Bernard. These are real prices—unlike many of the amounts running up into the thousands tagged on to bench space of not a few 30 cent dogs exhibited at some of the kennel shows where it is believed necessary to have something attractive.

EVEN WITH INTERRUPTER.

Expounder of Physical Culture Demonstrates Force of His Argument.

The little man was expounding to his auditors the benefits of physical culture. "Three years ago," he said, "I was a miserable wreck. Now what do you suppose brought about this great change in me?"

"What change?" said a voice from the audience. There was a succession of loud smiles, and some persons thought to see him collapse.

But the little man was not to be put out, says the Kansas City Independent.

"Will the gentleman who asked 'What change, kindly step up here?' he asked suavely. 'I shall be better able to explain. That's right!'"

Then, grabbing the witty gentleman by the neck: "When I first took up physical culture, I could not even lift a little man; now (suiting action to word) I can throw one about like a bundle of rags." And he flung the interrupter half a dozen yards along the floor.

"I trust, gentlemen, that you will see the force of my argument, and that I have not hurt this gentleman's feelings by my explanation." There were no more interruptions.

Signed a Contract.

"I have here a melodrama," began the author.

"Don't talk to me," interrupted the manager, "unless you have something new."

"I have something new. The villain is a life insurance president."

"Bless you, my boy! bless you!"—Chicago Sun.

Forest Area of Siberia.

Siberia has the biggest forest area of any country on earth, yet the timber for the construction of the eastern end of the trans-Siberian railway came from the United States. It was brought from Oregon, being shipped across to Vladivostok, thence transported by rail to the banks of a tributary of the Amur and loaded into barges to be towed to its destinations.

"Some roads open stately enough, with planted trees on either side to tempt the traveler, but soon become narrower and narrower, and end in a squirrel path and run up a tree."

And many advertising campaigns get switched off into roads of this kind—expend their forces in newspapers of "squirrel path" circulations and influence—and end "up a tree."
